Outer Creek Park's team building and leadership development facility features experienced professionals who can custom design programs to meet the needs of any organization.

Low Ropes Course

Using the latest fun and creative techniques, participants will explore and expand their teamwork and leadership abilities in a supportive but challenging environment. Our staff has a large library of interpersonal development programs that are sure to help any group discover untapped personal resources.

Alpine Tower

The Alpine Tower is a unique group problem-solving exercise, using situations that present the same challenges as rock climbing and traditional ropes courses. The dynamics of the relationship between the climber and the belayer – who is holding the support rope – offer an intense partnering experience. This activity focuses on teamwork, trust, communication, fun and respect for others.

Alpine Challenge Course

This popular course requires individuals to work as a team to solve problems. Based on real-life cave and rock-climbing rescue scenarios, this activity develops teamwork, compassion and service ethic. Participants must maneuver a rescue device – with a real person on board – through the course, adding drama and meaning to this exercise. The specific scenario will be tailored so that it is relevant to the group involved.
